The eastern Cape Breton Island coast from Great Bras d'Or entrance to St Peters Bay is dotted with numerous small fishing harbours. Many are little more than hole-in-the-wall inlets with private fishing wharves, and should only be entered with local knowledge and guidance, and perhaps by 'invitation'.

The harbours which will be of interest to visiting cruisers are: Sydney, Glace Bay, Port Morien, Main-à-Dieu, and Louisbourg. There are no harbours of interest to cruisers between Louisbourg and St Peters Bay.
